Create a video using oral history recordings and images (online workshop)

Have you ever wanted to make a video from oral history interviews?

Are your oral history recordings sitting in an archive, not being showcased?

Have you ever wanted to make use of interview files for displays or presentations, or to put on a website?

Would you like to make a digital story?

Have you interviewed family members and would like to create a special video for them using the audio and family photos?

If so, this workshop is for you.

This hands-on workshop will:

- teach you how to use PowerPoint software to create videos (or digital stories) using audio-only interviews, sound effects, music, photographs and other images, and

- provide ideas about how to use your videos and digital stories.

During the workshop, you will practise making a digital video using files provided. You do not need to provide your own audio files or images.

Detailed workshop notes will be provided.

Date: Friday 6 May 2022

Time: 10:30am – 1:30pm (Eastern states of Australia)

10am – 1pm (SA, NT)

8:30am – 11:30am (WA)

Venue: online. Instructions for installing and using the software will be provided upon registration.

Cost: $80 per person, $60 for concession card holder/student

This workshop is suitable for:

- Members of community groups and history groups
- Custodians of oral history collections
- Local and community historians
- Students, teachers and researchers
- Anyone wanting to use oral history interviews
- Anyone interested in creating digital stories or videos from oral history

Workshop presenter:

Your presenter is Dr Sally Stephenson (listeningtothepast.com.au), a highly experienced researcher, oral historian and workshop presenter. Sally has presented introductory and advanced workshops (in person and online) on a range of topics for Oral History Australia SA/NT, and regularly receives excellent reviews.

Booking and payment details:

Bookings are essential. Please book and pay online using the link on this page: listeningtothepast.com.au/online-workshops.

Please note that places are limited to eight people per workshop. A waiting list will be kept in case of cancellations, and if a workshop is oversubscribed, new sessions will be scheduled.

What you need to participate in the workshop:

Workshop handouts are provided in advance to each participant, as well as an illustrated guide to installing and using the meeting software. For those who are new to using online meeting software, I am happy to run practice sessions so that you are confident using the software before the workshop.

You will need a computer/tablet with internet connection to participate in the online workshop.

It is preferable to have a headset (headphones with microphone), but the speaker and microphone on your device are also sufficient.

If you have two devices available (or two screens), this will be an advantage (but is not essential) so that you can display the video meeting software on one, and use PowerPoint on the other.

You will need to have PowerPoint software installed to create the video (digital story).

After we have received your online registration and payment, we will provide you with a link to download sample audio and image files to use in the workshop.

Assumed knowledge:

It is recommended that participants have some experience using PowerPoint software, as well as being confident with basic computer functions such as opening files, copying and pasting, and locating files on a computer.
